Select Audio Device on Desktop

If you have multiple audio devices available for your microphone or speakers, select the preferred audio device before starting a call.

Basic Instructions

1. In top navigation bar, click Calls
2. In the drop down menu, select Audio Device
3. In the fly-out menu, select Headset or Speakers

Advanced Instructions for More Audio/Video Settings

1. In the top navigation bar, click File
2. In the drop down menu, select Options
3. Click on Audio/Video to open those settings
4. Under Audio, select the Output and Input devices you use for your headset and speakers

Using your desktop's operating system, you can select a default audio device. With Windows, go to Control Panel. With Mac, go to the System preferences for Sound.

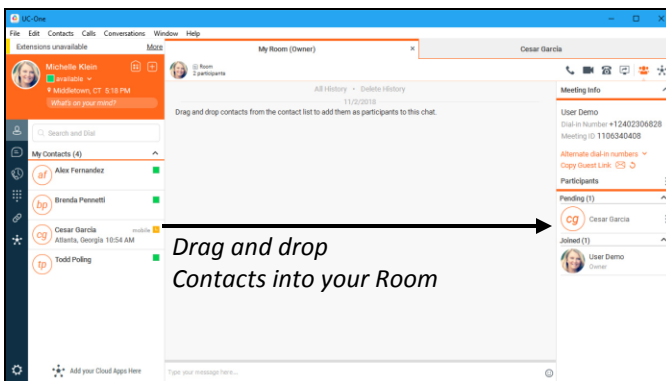

My Room

My Room is an always-available virtual room you can use to chat or call with one or more people who join the room. From My Room it is easy to turn your chat into a conference call, video call, and screen share experience.

In My Room, there is Room Info consisting of a dial-in number with conference ID, and an option to email an invitation containing a link to your room for guests outside your organization.

Join someone else's Room by right-clicking their name on your Contact list, and selecting Join Room.

Desktop

Invite others to your room by:

- Drag and Drop from Contacts into My Room
- Right-click My Room icon and select New Invitation for people within your organization (people who also have FusionWorks UC-1 Communicator)
- Right-click My Room icon and select Email Guest Link for people outside your organization (without FusionWorks UC-1 Communicator). Guests click the hyperlink in the email and join your meeting through a web-browser. As guests attempt to enter My Room, you receive a notification and must accept each guest session.
