

Satellite Connectivity

Reliable high-speed internet access, anywhere

Fusion Connect helps businesses extend connectivity to hard-to-reach locations and backup scenarios where traditional access may fall short. By integrating satellite connectivity into a broader communications and network strategy, Fusion Connect helps organizations improve continuity, expand coverage, and create a more resilient operating environment with less disruption.

Broadband connectivity when and where you need it, managed by Fusion Connect.

Using the largest constellation of low Earth orbit satellites, this solution delivers download speeds of 100 to 350 Mbps, typically with 25-75ms round-trip latency.

A static IP address is available for Fusion Connect customers that need a consistent address for services like VoIP, firewalls, and secure data sharing. When buying from Fusion Connect, business networking features like SD-WAN Integration, IP allow lists, IPsec, and others are supported.

Fusion Connect can deliver and manage high-speed internet access all of your locations, whether they are remote and underserved, or where many options are available. We help you connect your entire business.
